A New Start

My name is Noa and I am in seventh grade. This year I go to a new school, and everything is different. In elementary school I walked to school, but now I take a bus every morning. The ride takes twenty minutes, so I usually listen to music or talk to my friend Ido.

My new school is big. There are two buildings, a library and a sports field. We have a different teacher for every subject, and we move from room to room. At first I always got lost, but now I know the way.

Right now it is the long break. I am sitting in the library and I am writing this post. My friends are playing basketball outside. I don't play today because I have a math test after the break. I am a little nervous, but I studied a lot yesterday. Wish me luck!
